Renewal of Cold War
Seen in Geneva Fiasco

Geneva, Nov. 16 (UPI)—The fiasco of the Geneva conference on the Middle East today seemed to many observers a sign of the renewal of the cold war.

U.S. Sets Conditions for Guarantee For Legitimate Self-Defense

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. today informed the Israeli Ambassador, Mr. Abba Eban, that the Israeli arms list would receive consideration by the various agencies of the U.S. Government in the light of the American policies including the Tripartite Declaration of 1950.

Ben-Gurion Reply
Scored by 'Times'

By GEORGE LICHTHEIM
Jerusalem Post Correspondent
LONDON, Wednesday.—Mr. Ben-Gurion's reply to Sir Anthony Eden, delivered to the House of Commons yesterday, was given reasonable prominence in the morning's "Times," which is also in the forefront of the British media.

According to the paper's editorial writer, "The Times" has been forced to look at the details of a settlement to make it clear that the British government has no intention of making any permanent territorial arrangements.

The second sentence is an unconscious parody of the celebrated September 1950 editorial in which "The Times" advised Czechoslovakia to strengthen itself by surrendering her former territory to Hitler.

The State Department spokesman said that the "general impression" was that the Israeli government was not in a position to make any concrete proposals.

Sharett: Arms Insurance
For Israel's Survival

NEWARK, New Jersey, Wednesday (UPI).—The Israeli Foreign Minister, Mr. Moshe Sharett, said last night that his country must be better armed to ensure its survival.

Calling the emergence of Israel's new society a triumph of a people's spirit and a strength of will over all odds and time, Mr. Sharett declared that the major development projects have matured and that their execution is only held up by lack of capital.

ARAB AIM TO STOP
'ZIONIST ARMS' DRIVE

CAIRO, Wednesday (UPI).—The Arab League Political Committee said today that Arab states should work individually and together to destroy the attempts by Israel, United Nations, and its collaborators to obtain arms.

Knesset Refuses to Debate Eden Proposals

Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter
The Knesset yesterday rejected, 45-13, a Herut motion for the agenda calling for a debate on the recent proposals of Sir Anthony Eden, the British Premier, for peace in the Middle East. It likewise voted down, 25-13, a Communist motion that the matter be referred to committee.

The latter motion was opposed by the majority of the Knesset members, and the Communist motion was also rejected.

The Knesset's decision was a clear indication of the Israeli government's position on the Eden proposals.

Cables in Brief

UNION. — The "final suspension" from the French Communist Party, of M. Auguste Lacour, formerly one of the Party's top three, was announced yesterday by the Communist paper "L'Humanité". In January this year, the Party suspended him for a year. He had been dismissed from the Secretariat in March

RANCE — The High Court of appeal in London yesterday decided that Prince Ernest Augustus, 41-year-old head of the German House of Hannover, is a British subject. The Prince had resided in this country for British citizenship through an act of Parliament of 1906 giving such status to lineal descendants of the Electress Sophia of Hanover, grand-daughter of King James I and mother of George I. The Prince, grandson of Kaiser Wilhelm II, was educated at Oxford.

Kastner Lodges Action Against Greenwald

request for the court to order Mr. Greenwald to refrain from future libel. The claim was presented on behalf of Dr. Kastner by Mr. M. Caspi, who has visited several foreign countries to obtain witnesses in the case.

In the case of the State v. Greenwald, when Mr. Greenwald was judged not guilty of libel, Mr. Kastner was unable to call witnesses who might have testified in his favour because he did not proffer the charges, but was only a witness himself. In the forthcoming case he is expected to make use of much new material and many new witnesses.

There is both reassurance and further reason for disquiet in the message sent by President Eisenhower to the rally of American Zionists in New York on Tuesday. It is reassuring that the U.S. realizes Israel's needs for arms with which to defend herself, but on the other hand, if the statement means anything, it must mean that the U.S. will not propose the use of U.S. or U.N. troops in any British-sponsored attempt to coerce Israel. But this form of non-intervention is still coupled with continued friendship in all other fields, even including the delicate area of arms, as long as this does not clash with a policy of similar friendship with Egypt.

This is a policy of disengagement, and no doubt there will be enough people in Israel to feel that it may make decisions easier in the event of Egyptian sub-war progress into war proper and the need arises for all-out defensive action. If it falls woefully short of attempting to put a stop to Arab hostility against Israel, it also, at least up to the present, does not go so far as to impose impossible concessions on Israel, and that is of course precisely what the British Foreign Office has attempted to do during the past week. It would be a great mistake to suppose that the new British gamble is the less dangerous because it is played from weakness and not from strength. The British position in the Middle East is perilous — certainly more perilous than that of Israel. The Egyptians who manoeuvred Sir Anthony Eden out of the Suez Canal Zone certainly know the extent of his weakness, for they are its source. Thus Britain has nothing to lose in offering to help Egypt deal with Israel, and if Nasser could be persuaded by the anxiety of "The Times" for his security, as expressed in an editorial of November 10:

"An attack could not be successfully executed against Jewish or American intervention but could damage to friendly Arab States before intervention was effective."

then perhaps British land and air forces would find themselves back in the Canal Zone after all, and this time as welcome allies?

These are unpleasant speculations concerning a power with which Israel had built up a remarkable degree of friendship in the years since the establishment of the State, a friendship that has plainly been valued more greatly in this country than in Britain. It is clear, however, that Britain feels under a dire necessity to appease Egypt in the face of the total disaster in Cyprus which, on the other hand, is likely to be hastened by the sight of Britain in the position of supplicant in Egypt.
